Theatre Rhinoceros
Presents Joey Landwehr* in
The Boy Next Door:
The Music and Lyrics of Christopher Jackson
Saturday, January 7, 2006

What: San Francisco's longest-running queer theatre presents this one-man, one pianist show.

The Boy Next Door is a song cycle running the gamut from hysterically funny to poignantly touching, as Joey Landwehr sings songs ranging from "Answering Machine" (trying to fit in his entire life story before the beep) to "Session with a Therapist" (in which he laments that his latest crush is on the animated cartoon character Aladdin).

You won't want to miss this charming one-night-only event!

Who: Joey Landwehr* has worked on and off Broadway, on national tours, in regional theatres and has soloed at Carnegie Hall. He has worked with such greats as Phyllis Diller, Sam Harris, Kristin Chenoweth, Joel Grey, Kaye Ballard, Michael Feinstein and the late, great Howard Keel. Some of Joey's favorite shows have been Love! Valour! Compassion! (Buzz, Bobby & Perry), The Madness of Lady Bright (Leslie Bright), Forever Plaid (all four roles at one point or another), Jesus Christ Superstar (Peter) and The Secret Garden – National Tour (Dickens).

When: Saturday, January 7th at 8pm in the Studio.

Where: Theatre Rhinoceros, 2926 16th Street (one block from 16th & Mission BART), between Mission and South Van Ness Sts., San Francisco, CA, 94103

Tickets: All tickets $15.
